Jon Harvey

Leadership and Organisation Development Consultant

Short Biography :

"Jon established his own consultancy company in August 2008 where he is building on his 20 years consulting experience across the criminal justice system, public services and commercial world. He is an accomplished change leader and organisational development practitioner. He has particular strengths in facilitating the conversations, tools, structures and actions required to generate robust outcomes & results. He has developed significant expertise in developing cultures of continuous improvement (from TQM to lean), resolving conflict and organising the productive engagement with customers/clients/citizens.

From July 2007 to July 2008, Jon worked as the Regional Director of Organisational Development for the police services in Eastern England. Prior to this he worked for the Office for Public Management for 12 years. His career started in local government and the NHS. Jon is skilled in helping individuals, organisations and collaborative partnerships to shape their futures and create strategies that really happen (rather than exist only on the glossy page).

Jon has worked with the Home Office, the Office for Health Gain, Esso, the Bank of England, Solaglas, the European Foundation for the Improvement of Living and Working Conditions, Youth Justice Board, Islington Council, Metropolitan Police, Thorn Lighting, HM Prison Service, Great Ormond Street Hospital, the National Policing Improvement Agency and many other organisations (including more than half of the police services in the country). His portfolio includes some international work. He is SC cleared."
